

LoveWay mini horses bring cheer to residents at Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community

JOSEPH WEISER THE GOSHEN NEWS

May 22, 2020

The staff at nonprofit riding therapy agency LoveWay used their two miniature horses Thursday to cheer up residents of the Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community.

The center is a residence for people with dementia and was hit with a COVID-19 outbreak earlier this spring.

Some residents were allowed to get outside to visit with the horses.

1 of 5

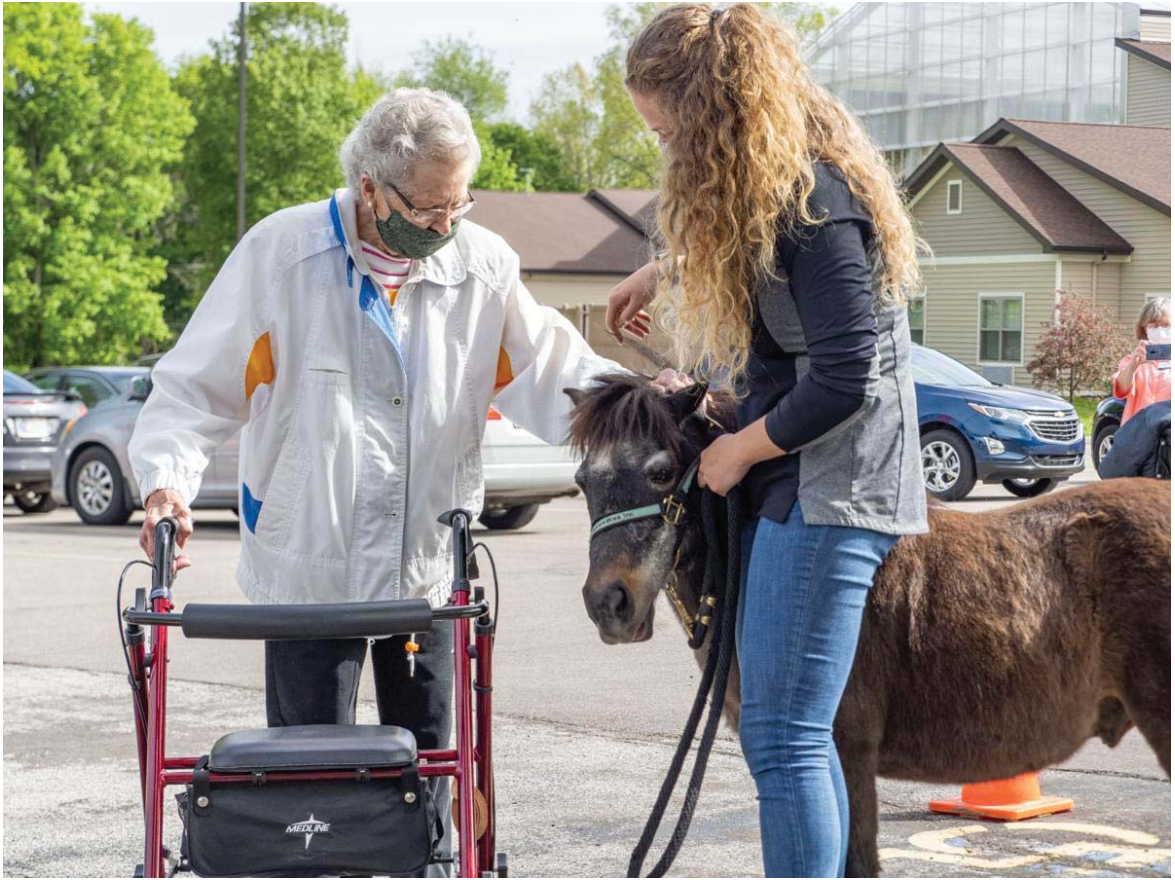

meeting new peeps

Sheila Dibley, of Elkhart, pets LoveWay miniature horse Peeps on Thursday morning at Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community in Elkhart. Dibley is a 25-year volunteer with LoveWay Therapeutic Equestrian Services.

Joseph Weiser | The Goshen News

Joseph Weiser

Photojournalist

Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community resident pets LoveWay miniature horse Peeps on Thursday morning at Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community in Elkhart.

Bob Kenaga, of Elkhart, meets LoveWay miniature horse Peeps Thursday morning at Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community in Elkhart.

Rita Willis, of Elkhart, pets LoveWay miniature horse Yoshi Thursday morning at Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community in Elkhart.

Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community residents line up to meet LoveWay miniature horses Peeps and Yoshi Thursday morning at Hubbard Hill Living Wisdom Community in Elkhart.